"I truly love the Christopher Spitzmiller lamp in my bedroom. It's a classic shape and so versatile—it could work in a traditional or a minimalist interior. Plus, orange is my favorite color!"

"I bought this French enameled floor lamp with ormolu and inlaid stones years ago in Buenos Aires. Every time I look at it, I discover a stone I've never noticed before. It's beautiful, but it's also the perfect reading light for my study since it has three bulbs."

"I found this lamp with a moth mounted in Lucite at a shop here in San Francisco a few years ago. It's a great conversation piece but also perfect for reading. The moth is starting to fade, but I won't part with it until it literally biodegrades!"

*"A client and I were shopping in Paris at the marchés aux puces when a dealer invited us to come see his warehouse full of objets by Jacques Adnet—and we went with him! A 45-minute cab ride later, and I was carrying this navy blue, leather-wrapped Eiffel Tower home."*

"I've had this lamp—supposedly designed for Miami Beach's original Fontainebleau Hotel—for more than 25 years. It's fit in every place I've called home."

PETER DUNHAM, INTERIOR DESIGNER
